THE UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA STAFF BULLETIN

EDMONTON, ALBERTA

MAY 3, 1973

Since he became Chancellor of the University, LOUIS A. DESROCHERS has had to develop a lot of rather unlikely ceremonial skills. ABOVE, he wields a pair of bolt cutters to cut a metal rod, held by Vice-President (Planning and Development) W. D. NEAL (to the left of the Chancellor) and A. D. MC TAVISH, Chairman of the Board of Governors Building Committee, at the official opening of the new Mechanical Engineering Building last Friday, April 27. Scarcely more than two years ago, he learned the manly art of caterpillar-driving (left) to turn the sod for the Fine Arts Building, which is now virtually complete.

VISITORS

■ R. RADO of the University of Reading, Berkshire, England, gave a colloquium to the Department of Mathematics.

■ CHARLES MC MILLAN of the University of Bradford, England, was a visitor to the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce where he gave a talk on his research into multi-national corporations.

MOVE TO NEW RUTHERFORD LIBRARY UNDERWAY

The task of moving over a million books and several departments between the Cameron and Rutherford Libraries began on May 1 and is expected to be completed in October. The schedule is as follows:

May 1. The Social Sciences and Humanities Collection will be moved from Cameron Library to Rutherford. Target date for completion, June 16. During this period the collection will be serviced from Cameron Library.

June 17. The Social Sciences and Humanities Reference Services will move from Cameron to Rutherford II. Target date for completion, July 16.

June 17. Social Sciences and Humanities Circulation Services will be available in Rutherford II.

August 1. The Reserve Reading Room will move from Rutherford I to the main floor of Cameron in the space released by the existing reference department. Target date for completion, August 31.

August 1. Government Documents will move from Rutherford I to the third floor of Cameron. Target date for completion, August 31.

August 17. The Undergraduate Library will be moved from Rutherford I to the second floor of Cameron. Target date for completion, September 16.

August 17. The Periodicals Reading Room will move from Cameron to the east side of the main floor of Rutherford I. Target date for completion, August 31.

October 1. Inter-library Loans will move from the main floor to the basement of Cameron. Target date for completion, October 16.

During the actual physical move of each section, books will not be accessible. However, once shelved in Rutherford they will be serviced on a day to day basis from Main Circulation, Cameron Library. Books requested will be located in Rutherford II by Library staff and will be available for collection the following day. It is hoped that borrowing from the moving collection will be kept to a minimum during this difficult time, and to help library users the call numbers of the books currently being moved will be published each week in FOLIO.

The books being moved between May 1 and

May 14 are those in the Humanities and Social Sciences, call numbers P to PZ.

THE NEW LIBRARY'S NAME

Rutherford I and Rutherford II have been convenient designations during the construction phase of the new library. Upon acceptance of the new space, however, the two libraries will be referred to as The Rutherford Library. A well-designed system of signs and graphics will readily identify the location of the various functions in Rutherford Library.

PEOPLE

■ M. V. DIMIC, Chairman of Comparative Literature, has become one of the founding members of the editorial committee of the new learned journal Neohelicon—Acta Comparationis Litterarum Universarum, published by Mouton of The Hague and Paris and Akademia Kiadó of Budapest on behalf of the co-ordinating committee of the International Comparative Literature Association. The first issue, containing contributions in English, French, German, and Russian, has just appeared.

■ R. K. DAS GUPTA, Visiting Professor of Comparative Literature (Tagor Professor of Bengali, Delhi, and member of the executive of the International Comparative Literature Association), has been invited by the Canadian Comparative Literature Association to deliver the guest lecture at this year's annual meetings (Learned Societies, June 1 to 3). The previous keynote speakers have been HORST FRENZ of Bloomington, Indiana and HARRY LEVIN of Harvard, respectively President and Past President of the American Comparative Literature Association. M. V. DIMIC, Chairman of Comparative Literature, has accepted an invitation to be moderator of a discussion on folktales and artistic literature at the same meetings.

■ FRANK MC MAHON, Dean of Collège Universitaire Saint-Jean, was elected President of the Association Canadienne Française de l'Alberta at the Association's general meeting on April 14. The ACFA is a cultural association to promote and develop the French language and culture in Alberta. Past presidents include ROGER MOTUT, Acting Chairman of Romance Languages, and LOUIS DESROCHERS, Chancellor of the University.

■ KAROL KROTKI, Professor of Sociology, has been invited to organize and chair a session on dual methods of measurement of population change (the so-called PGE/ERAD techniques) during the conference of the International Association of Survey Statisticians in Vienna, Austria, in August, 1973.

■ The Department of Comparative Literature is the editorial home of the new learned journal Revue Canadienne de Littérature Comparée/Canadian Review of Comparative Literature, published by the University of Toronto Press on behalf of the Canadian Comparative Literature Association. M. V. DIMIC, Chairman of Comparative Literature, is the editor. J. FERRATE and E. J. H. GREEN, Professors of Comparative Literature, are respectively members of the Advisory Board and Editorial Committee, and E. D. BLODGETT, Associate Professor, is responsible for the secretariat. Other staff members and graduate students are actively sharing some of the editorial and administrative chores.

■ STEPHEN ARNOID, Assistant Professor of Comparative Literature, has been appointed co-ordinating secretary for one of the nine sections of meetings and has been invited to give a paper to another section of the 1973 Rome Special Conference on Futures Research, to be held in September.

■ K. D. MC FADDEN, Associate Professor, and I. M. TAYLOR, Assistant Professor, both of the Department of Anatomy, attended the New York meeting of the American Association of Anatomists. In addition, Dr. Taylor presented a seminar to the Department of Anatomy at the University of Toronto.

■ P. M. DRANCHUK, Professor of Petroleum Engineering, attended the 75th annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy in Vancouver.

■ LESZEK A. KOSINSKI, Professor of Geography, represented the International Geographic Union at a meeting of the International Union for the Scientific Study of Population Committee on Urbanization and Population Redistribution, in Port of Spain, Trinidad.

■ D. G. FISHER, Professor and Chairman of Chemical Engineering, presented a paper at the Second International Symposium on Pulp and Paper Process Control, which was held in Montreal.

NOTICES

DEPARTMENT OF RADIO AND TELEVISION

The following notice has been received from W. H. JOPLING, Acting Director of Radio and Television.

The Department of Radio and Television is now equipped to record off-air television broadcasts (channels 3 and 5 at present) at any time of the day or night. This service is available at no charge. An example would be the recording of such programs as "Weekend," "W5," etc.

For further information contact JOHN SLEIK, Technical Supervisor, at 432-4962 or Mr. Jopling at 432-3302.

One of the main reasons for the existence of the Department of Radio and Television is the role it can play in the use of television as a visual aid to augment lectures, seminars, etc. Another goal is to better acquaint the public with what is going on at the University. There are many research projects or particular aspects of a department's operation that should lend themselves to video taping and broadcasting to the public. Radio and Television is most interested in exploring such possibilities.

BRIAN KIENAPPLE, Supervisor of Television Production, at 432-4962, or Mr. Jopling at 432-3302, would be happy to discuss any suggested projects.

ART AND DESIGN MOVES

The administrative offices of the Department of Art and Design are now located in Room 3-98 of the new Fine Arts Building. Telephone numbers remain unchanged.

MUSKEG CONFERENCE TO BE HELD HERE

The Muskeg Subcommittee of the Associate Committee on Geotechnical Research, National Research Council of Canada, is holding the fifteenth Muskeg Research Conference at this campus May 14 and 15. Sessions will be held in Room 2-3 of the Mechanical Engineering Building.

The theme will be "Muskeg and the environment" and the prime purpose of the conference will be to define, classify, and discuss the implications of development in the muskeg regions of Canada for the environment.

The program will be divided into four parts:

THREE EXTENSION SEMINARS

A rapidly expanding field in the area of industrial design and modern production methods is Numerical Control and this will be examined in a two day seminar to be held by the Department of Extension beginning May 14. The instructor will be A. K. CLARK, Assistant Professor of Industrial and Vocational Education, and the program will include lectures, demonstrations, and workshops. Brochures containing detailed information are available from the Department of Extension. The fee will be $75 including text, materials, and lunch.

A two day seminar on Digital Logic and Interface Design will be presented for non-specialist users on May 28 and 29. The seminar will be conducted by D. ZISSOS of the Department of Mathematics at The University of Calgary. The purpose is to acquaint participants with clear and simple design procedures in dealing with software and interfaces of digital devices. No formal knowledge of the topics will be assumed other than an exposure to digital logic design. The registration fee is $100 including texts and lunches.

"Management Practice," a seminar in management policy will be held May 10 and 11, using JOHN HUMBLE's new film series Management Practice. Marketing, information systems, and strategic planning will be examined. Instructors will be RICHARD FAYON, Associate Professor of Extension, and WILLIAM A. PRESING, Director of Institutional Research and Planning.

The registration fee is $95 including texts and lunches.
